

Dr. Robert Rodriguez

Dr. Robert Rodriguez is the Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Hispanic Alliance for Career Enhancement (HACE), a national non-profit organization dedicated to incubating and nurturing Latinos throughout their career continuum and working to develop increasing numbers of successful Latino professionals and leaders. Because of his role at HACE, Dr. Rodriguez works with many of the country's premier employers helping them recruit and retain Latino talent as part of their overall diversity strategy. Over HACE's 25 year history, this premier non-profit organization has expanded the horizons of tens of thousands of Latinos, who in turn have enriched the companies and organizations that employ them. Robert is also a member of PRIMER, a network of Latino business and professional leaders.

Dr. Robert Rodriguez also serves as the Assistant Dean of the Graduate School of Management at Kaplan University. His responsibilities curriculum design, course development, and course delivery for Kaplan's Newsweek MBA programs. Prior to Kaplan, he taught at the Kellstadt Graduate School of Business at DePaul University in Chicago.

Prior to academia, he held human resource leadership roles at several Fortune 500 firms including 3M Company, BP Amoco and RR Donnelley & Sons. Along with teaching at Kaplan, Dr. Rodriguez is a highly sought after consultant helping organizations with their diversity talent management initiatives. A partial listing of his clients include: